Information on data transfer to insecure, non-EU countries

Among other things, we use tools from companies, whose main headquarters is in the United States. If these tools are active, your personal data may potentially be transferred to the US-based servers of the individual companies. We would like to point out that the US is not considered a secure third-country in the legal sense of the EU-dataprotection laws. U.S. enterprises are under a mandate to release personal data to the security agencies without you as the data subject having any litigation options against the processing of your data. Hence, it cannot be ruled out that U.S. agencies (e.g., the Secret Service) may process, analyze, and permanently archive your personal data for surveillance purposes. We have no control over these processing activities.

Redirection to third party websites

We have included links to the websites of third parties. When you click on these links, data is transmitted to the respective operator of the website. This privacy policy does not regulate the collection, transfer, or handling of personal data by third parties. Please check the privacy policy of the responsible data controller.

Consent according to §25 para. 1 TTDSG

Depending on your consent, we use varying tools on our website that process your data. Insofar as we base the processing of your data on your declaration of consent pursuant to Art. 6 (1)(a) GDPR and inform you about the purpose and effect of the declaration of consent in our data protection declaration, your declaration is also considered as consent under §25 (1) TTDSG. Which cookies, plug-ins and other data-processing tools are used, please refer to this privacy policy.

Revocation of your consent to the processing of data

A wide range of data processing transactions are only possible with your explicit consent. You can revoke your given consent at any time. This shall not change the lawfulness of any data processing that occurred prior to said revocation.

Right to object to the collection of data in special cases; right to object to direct advertising (Art. 21 GDPR)

In the event that data is processed on the basis of Art. 6 (1)(E) or (F) GDPR, you have the right to object to the processing of your personal data at any time based on grounds arising from your unique situation. This also applies to any profiling based on these provisions. To determine the legal basis, on which any processing of data is based, please consult this data protection declaration. If you use your right to object, we will no longer process your affected personal data, unless we are capable of presenting compelling, protection worthy reasons for the processing of your data, that outweigh your interests, rights and freedoms or if the purpose of the processing is to claim, the exercise or defence of legal rights (objection pursuant to Art. 21 (1) GDPR).

If your personal data is being processed in order to engage in direct advertising, you have the right to object to the processing of your affected personal data for the purposes of such advertising at any time. This also applies to profiling to the extent that it is connected to the direct advertising. If you object, your personal data will subsequently no longer be used for direct advertising purposes. (Objection pursuant to Art. 21 (2) GDPR).

Right to lodge a complaint with the competent supervisory agency

In the event of GDPR violations, data subjects are entitled to lodge a complaint with a supervisory agency, in particular in the member state where they usually maintain their domicile, place of work or at the place where the alleged violation occurred. The right to lodge a complaint is enforceable, regardless of any other administrative or civil court proceedings available as legal recourse.

Right to data portability

You have the right to demand that we hand over any data we automatically process based on your consent or in order to fulfil a contract with you or a third party in a commonly used, machine readable format. If you should demand the direct transfer of the data to another controller or third party, this will only be done if it is technically doable.

SSL and/or TLS encryption

For security reasons and to protect the transmission of confidential content, such as purchase orders or inquiries you submit to us as the website operator, this website uses either an SSL or a TLS encryption program. You can recognise an encrypted connection by checking whether the address line of the browser switches from “http://” to “https://” or by the appearance of a lock icon in the input line of the browser. If the SSL or TLS encryption is activated, data you transmit to us cannot be read by third parties.

Information about, erasure and rectification of data

Within the scope of the applicable statutory provisions, you at any time have the right to information about your stored personal data, their source and recipients as well as the purpose of their processing. You may also have a right to have your data rectified or erased. If you have questions about this subject matter or any other questions about personal data, please do not hesitate to contact us at any time.

Right to demand processing restrictions

You have the right to demand restrictions in regards to the processing of your personal data. To do so, you may contact us at any time. The right to demand processing restriction applies in the following cases:

- In the event that you should dispute the correctness of your data stored by us, we will usually need some time to verify this claim. During the time that this investigation is ongoing, you have the right to demand the restriction processing in regard to your personal data.
- If the processing of your personal data was/is conducted in an unlawful manner, you have the option to demand the restriction of the processing of your data instead of the erasing of this data.
- If we do not need your personal data any longer and you need it to exercise, defend against or claim legal rights, you have the right to demand the restriction of processing instead of the erasure of your personal data.
- If you have objected pursuant to Art. 21 (1) GDPR, your rights and our rights will be weighed against each other. As long as it has not been determined, whose interests prevail, you have the right to demand the processing of your personal data be restricted.

If you have restricted the processing of your personal data, the data – with the exception of their storage – may be processed only with your consent or to claim, exercise or defend legal rights or to protect the rights of other data subjects or legal entities or for reasons of important public interest of the European Union or a member state.
